A Series of Lies

This poem is a formula that uses hyperbole, a form of figurative language that is over-exaggeration of an idea. You will write a series of lies about yourself or someone else. Chose something you would like to lie about such as: intelligence, looks, personality trait etc.

Follow the example and write the formula poem.

EXAMPLE: *note: When you write your poem, don't include the letters and numbers.

TITLE: Gorgeous

- A1. I wish I were not so handsome.
- B2. My amazing good looks make it difficult
- 3. for me to go shopping at South County Mall
- 4. without sales girls fainting at my approach.
- 5. Brad Pitt writes me hate mail saying I should die a death of torture.
- 6. Hollywood plastic surgeons use my features as a model for their clients..
- 7. Megan Fox begs me for a date,
- 8. and I have to hide from the entire chorus line at Caesar's Palace.

C9-12. If I were to walk in Forest Park on Sundays, girls would desert their boyfriends' arms to throw kisses at me from behind the bushes.

GNMENT: Practice writing one or two Series of Lies poem on the lines provided or on separate paper.					