

Where were you when you first heard about the events of September 11, 2001? How did you find out?

As a young child, what feelings do you remember experiencing?

Eight years later, what are your feelings about the situation?

How has the media played a role in shaping our knowledge and understanding of the atrocities of September 11, 2001, and its aftermath?