

Connecting to Calypso's Island

Calypso presents Odysseus with a choice. He could easily stay here forever and become immortal. It's a great rest after a long journey, but it's not his ultimate goal. If Odysseus stays content with life on Calypso's island, he will never reach his goal of returning home.

Many people become complacent on their journey through life, forgetting their childhood dreams and giving up because they are tired. Life becomes good enough, but not as great as it could have been.

List three goals that you want to accomplish in the next ten years and any complications you think might make the journey difficult.

1. I will _____.

Something that might get in my way is _____

2. I will _____.

Something that might get in my way is _____

3. I will _____.

Something that might get in my way is _____

Now choose one of your three goals and write two paragraphs about it that includes a detailed description of the goal, how and when you plan to accomplish it, what might stand in your way, and how you plan to overcome that obstacle. I suggest you answer the first two parts of the question in the first paragraph and the last two in the second paragraph. Watch your grammar and spelling!!!!
